

Division of Public Assistance (DPA)

Help Alaskans meet basic needs and achieve independence

Important: Please see the following, it might affect your benefits.

The Division of Public Assistance offers no-cost language interpretation services for people to communicate with us in their preferred language. This is especially important when people need to know about our assistance programs, or when we give notice that might affect a household's benefits.

We use the following taglines in the most frequently used languages to give people a direct line to an interpreter when calling our Virtual Contact Center: 800-478-7778.
